DEMME'S HOLD A CONVENTION

Meet In Milwaukee For General Gathering Of Wisconsin Clans Of Party.

VILAS IS IN THE UPPER HAND NOW

Will Probably Endorse Bryan--Speech On The Needs Of Democracy In Wisconsin Given By The Chairman.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Milwaukee, Wis., June 27.—The democratic state convention called for the purpose of adopting a platform to be recommended to the candidates who will be nominated at the primary election in the fall, met here this afternoon. There were about seven hundred delegates present. Daniel H. Grady of Portage was temporary chairman. He said:

"If the measure of a party's greatness and a party's success be its ability to bamboozle the people into a mistaken belief, or to gain the coveted position as a provider of political pap, the democratic party may not have been a success. But, to the credit of that party, it has not departed from its principles of government that it might meet the popular approval, but has taught the lesson to rising generations that there are higher and nobler things in life than the holding of political office. To those to whom the love of purchasable power has been so alluring, the republican party has ever made its appeal, saying to the citizen as he stands on life's threshold, that within its ranks may be found the wealth and influence of the commercial world. This assertion is only too true, for more men have been enriched by the ill-gotten gains, as the fruit of the republican policy of levying tribute upon the many for the benefit of the few, than under any and all of the most corrupt governments the world has ever known."

"Upon the right of a government to levy tribute upon one class for the benefit of another, we have ever differed with them, and from the watchtower of democracy we have sounded the alarm of warfare against that system that has strangled individual enterprise and has stifled legitimate competition."

"The prediction of the party of years ago has come to pass, and to quote the words of the republican, Governor Cummins of Iowa, 'The total life insurance grants of all time' have not been one-fifth of the annual amount of which the people have been despoiled by excessive tariff rates."

"We have seen the effect of the tariff upon the three great industries that should go hand in hand and shoulder to shoulder to secure the greatness of the country and the prosperity of her people. We say to them that the cause of this condition is the inequitable protective tariff system. They dare not, and they do not deny it. You may investigate every trust in this country today and you will find that the article manufactured by it is a protected article, and you will find a manufactured article controlled by a trust that is not a protected article."

"The democratic party takes its stand in opposition to any policy that says to the world that the American flag shall serve inconsistent purposes, but now declares that the flag that for a hundred years has waved on land and sea as the emblem of peace and purity, and of the protection of the weak, shall not be prostituted to the base purpose of protecting any one in unamerican practices; that it shall not serve as a shield to the Sultan of Jolo and his underlings in the practice of polygamy; that in the name of those who laid down their lives that human slavery might be wiped forever from American soil, they now say that the American flag shall not protect a foreign potentate in the maintenance of human slavery—the holding of human beings until they who in slavery earn nothing can purchase their liberty by paying the usual market price even though sanctioned by a treaty."

"What people have had cause to spur them to more energetic action than the democracy of Wisconsin? The party here, as elsewhere, has ever fought the corporate invasion of individual rights. It was the democratic party that enacted the first railroad rate legislation under the administration of Governor Taylor; it was that party that gave the railway employees the protection of the only co-employees bill they ever had, which against republican opposition became a law over the official signature of Governor George W. Peck. It was the democratic party that established the right of the state to hundreds of thousands of dollars wrongfully withheld by its state treasurers. It has opposed first to last legislation favoring corporations as against the rights of the individual. It enforced honesty and integrity in its every department of government, and left behind it a record that has been the pride of the party of the state."

"We have seen the ill-gotten millions, the levied blackmail, the tribute paid for governmental favor, the money wrongfully withheld by the life insurance companies from widows and children, poured out upon a tempted and a golden people and by a criminal conspiracy and coercion without parallel in history, purchasing the highest office within this great republic."

"But as truth crushed to earth will rise again, the united democracy stands today facing the rising sun of the east, watching for the face and waiting for the sound of the voice that for a decade has, in the cause of true democracy, pleaded the promptings of his majestic mind, encouraging his countrymen in the days of trial and tribulation as did Columbus the mariners on the troubled seas, saying, 'Sail on, sail on, sail on, the craft will yet ride triumphantly to the sea.'"

"Recognizing in him the embodiment of the principles of democracy, without outstretched arms, he is today hailed and welcomed as the leader of his party, and though twice defeated by means corrupt and weapons befoiled, now bidding defiance to their power, he who led democracy's brave battalions in the memorable campaign of 1896 and 1900, lives the loftiest, and in the hearts of the American people the best beloved of them all. That he may live to see the triumph of the cause and answer the people's call to the helm of state, leaving an official record as stainless as that of his private life, we all hope. We may rest assured that he may fittingly emulate Henry Clay in calling to God in heaven to witness that he had served his country with a single heart and never held her interests subordinate to his own."

YOUNG EXPLORERS IN CHAUTAUQUA SOON STRANGE POSITION

Lack of Food and Money May Cause Them to Give Over Their Plans.

Last Wednesday morning Jerome Davis, Floyd Davis, Harvey Lee and Lawrence Sanborn started out in two rowboats to explore Lake Koshkonong. Word has been received they are at the present time stranded at a point in the lake just above Indian Ford and sixteen miles from the point in the lake where they started for. With no money and no food and lots of water above as well as underneath them, the explorers have nearly given up in despair and are undecided whether to continue their journey or drift with the current back to home and mother. All hope of rescue by a relief expedition has been abandoned.

Anti-Smoke Convention.

Detroit, Mich., June 27.—In pursuance of a movement started some time ago by Charles Postel of Milwaukee delegates representing a number of cities assembled in convention here today to discuss the smoke nuisance. The object is to unite all city officials to work for uniform and effective legislation to eliminate the municipal smoke evil.

Gazette Has Just Completed Printing The Program for the Ten Days' Meeting.

The program for the Janesville Chautauqua assembly has just been completed and is a very creditable piece of work. The book consists of twenty pages and 15,000 of them have been printed for distribution. One pleasant feature of the book is that it contains no advertisements, the information given is clear and concise and pertains entirely to the Chautauqua. Those having charge of its production are to be congratulated on bringing out so good a representative. The printing is the work of the Gazette's printing department and is handsomely done.

YALE AND HARVARD ON THAMES COURSE

Two Great Eastern Universities Will Have Annual Regatta Tomorrow —Yale The Favorite. [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New London, Conn., June 27.—Once again this staid old town has awakened from its slumbers and taken on an animated appearance in anticipation of the great annual boat race between the crews of Harvard and Yale. College men and others visitors are already pouring into town from New York, Boston and other points; though the bulk of those who will witness the contest will arrive by special trains tomorrow morning. The crews of the two universities indulged in their final trial spins today and both sides of the river were thronged with spectators anxious to form a final judgment on the condition and prospects of their favorites. Though Yale is the favorite for the big race the crimson has many ardent followers and the Yale money is being taken up as rapidly as offered. With favorable weather conditions tomorrow's contests undoubtedly will be among the most interesting ever pulled off on the historic Thames course.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, D. C., June 27.—Col. Oswald H. Ernst of the corps of engineers, U. S. A., retired today at the age limit with the rank of brigadier general.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., June 27.—By operation of the age limit Col. Oswald H. Ernst of the engineer corps of the United States army was placed on the retired list today. Col. Ernst is a native of Cincinnati and graduate from West Point in 1864. Few officers of the army have served in so many capacities and in so many different parts of the country as Col. Ernst. He entered the army in time to take part in the closing campaigns of the civil war. During the forty years that have elapsed since that time he has been in charge of harbor improvements and in the construction of fortifications on the Texas coast, on the Pacific coast and along the Canadian boundary. He was a member of the government commission that went to Spain to observe the solar eclipse in 1870, he inaugurated the great work in deepening the channel at the entrance to Galveston harbor, and served in Porto Rico during the war with Spain. For five years he was superintendent of the United States military academy at West Point and at various times he served as a member of the Isthmian canal commission, the Mississippi river commission and the international commission upon the condition and lines of waters adjacent to boundary lines between the United States and Canada. He is the author of several works on military engineering.

Maine Republicans.

Portland, Me., June 27.—The Republican state convention to nominate candidates for governor and other state officers was called to order here early this afternoon. Governor William T. Cobb, who has been a strong defender of the prohibitory law and of the Sturgis Commission, doubtless will be renominated by acclamation.

PENNSY DEMOCRATS MAY EFFECT FUSION

Indications Point To Junction With Lincoln Party and Prohibitionists —Republican Defeat Possible. [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Harrisburg, Pa., June 27.—The Democratic state convention is in session here to nominate candidates for governor, lieutenant governor, auditor general and secretary of internal affairs. For the first time in many years the party has virtually shaken itself free from the control of the state machine and the attendant corruption influences and appears to be in a position to make a free choice of candidates irrespective of the dictation of Col. James M. Guffey, national committee man, and his party leaders. Surface indications point to a strong sentiment in favor of endorsing Lewis Emery, Jr., the gubernatorial candidate of the Lincoln party. If such action is taken strong efforts will be made to overthrow the Republicans at the coming election through a fusion of the Democrats, Prohibitionists and Lincoln party followers. It is probable that the platform will come out strongly in denunciation of the Standard Oil Company, the Pennsylvania Railroad and Senator Penrose's combinations in the administration of state affairs.

INDUSTRIAL WORKERS POSTPONE MEETING

Convention Delayed By Trials Of Miners Accused of Murder. [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Ill., June 27.—Conflicting reasons are given for the postponement of the convention of the Industrial Workers of the World, which was to have assembled in this city today. The organization, which was founded by Eugene V. Debs, is of strong socialist tendencies and has met with bitter opposition from the American Federation of Labor and its component bodies. The reason given by the organization for the postponement of the convention is the uncertainty of the outcome of the trial of Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone, the officials of the Western Federation of Miners, who are charged with being implicated in the murder of former Governor Steunberger of Idaho. In an official announcement to the membership relative to the postponement of officers say that if the accused leaders of the Western Federation of Miners are acquitted the convention "undoubtedly will be the most important ever held by the working class in this country." The opponents of the Industrial Workers, on the other hand, declare that this high-sounding declaration is all "bosh" and that the real reason for the postponement of the convention is that the leaders are not willing to disclose the weakness of the organization at this critical time, as most of the locals have no money to send delegates to a convention.

Meeting Of Michigan Bar.

Kalamazoo, Mich., June 27.—There was a large attendance of bench and bar at the opening here today of the annual meeting of the Michigan Bar association. The principal feature will be the delivery of the annual address tomorrow by Judge Horace H. Lurton, of Nashville, Tenn.

MILLIONAIRE THAW IN THE FAMOUS TOMBS PRISON NOW

Sleeps Well And Does Not Seem Depressed By The Possibilities Of The Case.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, June 27.—Harry K. Thaw's first night in the Tombs prison upon the charge of murder was an uneventful one. He retired early and slept soundly and peacefully. He appeared greatly pleased when informed that his wife, Mrs. Thaw, had expressed her intention of visiting him in the prison during the day.

ALL PARIS STARTLED BY AWFUL MURDER MYSTERY

Young Breton Woman Slain And Body De- nuded..Police Have No Clue To Guilty One.

Paris, June 27.—All Paris is excited over a mysterious murder, the victim being a young and beautiful Breton woman, of rather facile morals, who is believed to have been at one time on the stage. A short time ago she took up her abode in a cottage at Saint Mandé, with a male friend with whom she had formerly lived, and who, on his return from Africa recently, had sought her out and found her. After dining with him one evening last week she went out, saying that she was going to a little party which some acquaintances were giving in Paris, and at two o'clock next morning she was noticed passing through the Saint Mandé gate on her way back to her dwelling.

The woman went along a broad and, at that hour, deserted avenue, running parallel to the fortifications, and soon afterwards a pool of blood as perceived by a lamplighter on the pavement. Following the ruddy track, the man turned a corner, about fifty yards from which he found a corpse lying in a street adjoining the avenue. The body had been deprived of most of its clothing, including corset and stockings, and there was a terrible gash in the neck.

The lamplighter hurried off to the police at Vincennes, who arrived promptly on the scene of the tragedy, and soon afterwards the corpse was identified by a publican, who gave the address of the friend with whom the unfortunate young woman had been living. The friend, who had retired early to rest, and was sleeping soundly when the police called at his cottage, lost no time in accompanying them to the spot, and he quickly noted that, besides the clothes which were missing, a purse containing a considerable sum, and some jewelry, which the murdered woman invariably wore, had been taken.

Though the police have worked diligently on the case they are still in the dark as to the identity of the murderer or murderers. No suspicion attaches to the friend of the woman as he succeeded in satisfying the authorities as to his movements on the night of the crime. One theory is that the crime may have been due to a desire for revenge on the part of some former acquaintance of the victim. But the neighborhood in which the murder occurred is so dangerous at night that it is thought quite probable that the woman may have been killed only for the sake of what she might have about her.

THE STORY OF CLASSIFIED TOWN

The Auction Sale

CHAPTER XVI.

In Classified Town, there resided a man, who was built on the "never advertise plan. His methods were ancient, so was his store. And business was running—past the door. He couldn't pay bills and was forced to fail. And his business wound up in an auction sale. On the classified page folks were apprised. Of the date of the sale, it was there advertised.

The crowd filled the store, and the bidding ran high. And the bankrupt remarked, as he stood idly by:

"Although it's too late my error is plain: From a word of advice I cannot refrain. If you wish success in an up-to-date way, Use Gazette want ads, you'll find it will pay."

has so long been a nuisance. We hope that the necessary work will be done, seeing the hand is in, such as repairing the lightning rods, procuring good drinking water for the children, etc. The fact is that the premises thereabouts have looked rather shabby, and not at all creditable to the city.

A Dastardly Act.—Some graceless scamp let down the bars leading to the garden of Mr. Henry Morris in the 4th Ward, last evening, and turned in a lot of cattle. The result was that the animals completely stripped not only the garden of every green thing, but they well nigh ruined some vigorous fruit trees in the yard. The damages to the premises are estimated at $50. Any one who would do such an act wouldn't hesitate at unsightly hole in front of it, which Horse Better Than A Man?

Wall Street Journal: The general newspapers give a column and a half and a "spread head" on the first page to an account of the death of a great thoroughbred horse. They give a half-column on an inside page to the death of America's greatest chess player, of whom it is said he was "one of the mental marvels of the age." Is a horse better than a man? Does brute strength possess more interest than mental power? Yet even in the horse's own sphere man can beat him. The pedestrian, Weston, the other day walked from Philadelphia to New York inside of twenty-four hours and the horses which accompanied him couldn't keep up with him.

Don't Carry Your Teeth in Your Pocket.

Mr. V. R. Fifth ward, had a deep fissure in his palate, and was obliged to carry his teeth in his pocket when he ate, because they gagged him and did not fit properly. After being annoyed four years, he went to Dr. A. P. Burrus and got a new set that fit nicely, and he can eat without gagging. Dr. Burrus will be in Janesville all this week.

GOOD ROADS

THE YEARS WORK.

Eighteen hundred pages of solid statistical material is the story of the year's commerce of the United States which the Department of Commerce and Labor, through its Bureau of Statistics, has just presented to the public. This is contained in two volumes, one of which, the Statistical Abstract of the United States, 1905, contains something over 600 pages, and the other, entitled "Commerce and Navigation of the United States, 1905," contains about 1,200 pages. The publications of the Bureau of Statistics which present the record of commerce from month to month aggregate about 3,000 pages during the year, but the summarization and analysis of the full year's commerce are contained in the two volumes named.

These two volumes are the subject of annually recurring demand on the part of the public. For many weeks the Bureau of Statistics has been receiving inquiries as to the date of their issuance. People who are interested in commerce and transportation, in markets in every part of the world for any commodity which they may desire to sell or which they may desire to buy, ask especially for the 1,200-page volume, Commerce and Navigation. Those who want to know about the growth and general development of production, transportation, railways, lake traffic, manufactures, foreign commerce, or the figures which measure our domestic prosperity—such as population, wealth, money in circulation, bank deposits, manufactures, imports and exports, education and educational facilities, and the growth in production of iron, steel, gold, silver, copper, coal, wheat, corn, cotton, fruits, and the numerous other elements which measure industrial activity—ask for the 600-page volume, the Statistical Abstract.

Uninteresting as these pages of statistics may appear, the information which they convey in concrete forms is not only useful to the individual engaged in production, manufactures, finance, transportation, or commerce, but attractive and instructive to those who follow the details which the tables present. It is interesting, for example, to learn by the volume, Commerce and Navigation that this great country, with its varying climate and diversified soils and facilities of production, sent more than 145 million dollars out of the country last year to buy sugar; that practically 65 millions of this went to Cuba, 36 millions to our own Pacific islands, 15 millions to the Dutch island on the other side of the globe (Java), and 12 millions to Porto Rico. It is also interesting to learn that 35 million dollars were sent out of the country in 1905, to purchase coffee, of which 64 millions were for coffee produced in Brazil. For India rubber to be used in manufacturing, 50 million dollars were sent out last year, and of this over 28 millions went to Brazil. Of raw silk for use in the factories of the United States, the value imported in 1905 was over 60 million dollars, against 30 millions in 1901; and of this total of 60 millions practically 29 million dollars worth came from Japan. Notwithstanding this large importation of raw silk, the value of silk manufactures brought in was over 32 million dollars, of which France contributed by far the largest proportion. Another interesting fact is the very large importation of diamonds and other precious stones, amounting to over 23 million dollars in the last fiscal year, against 8 millions a decade ago.

Turning to the export side, it is interesting, for example, to observe that the exportation of American boots and shoes has grown to over 8 million dollars in value, in 1905, and that this product of American manufacture went to practically every part of the world, having been sent to 85 different countries and colonies. Iron and steel is the largest item of exportation, the total under this class amounting to 135 million dollars in 1905, against 32 millions in 1895, and it is interesting to note that manufactures of this character—whether typewriters, sewing machines, stoves and ranges, electrical machinery, cash registers, printing presses, car wheels, or nails and spikes—were distributed to every part of the world, the number of countries and colonies which they invaded aggregating more than 100. American mineral oil was also widely distributed, the number of countries to which it was sent during the year being over 80 and the value of its exportations 73 million dollars. Every sort of American manufacture was sent in every direction: our telegraph instruments click in the wilds of Africa; our sewing machines whirl in the islands of Oceania; our locomotives screech across the plains of Siberia, Australia, and India; and the rattle of the American reaper and mower is heard in the fields of northern and southern Europe, of Africa, of India, of Australia, of Japan, and of the Philippine Islands.

These are but a few of the thousands of facts to be found in the volume of Commerce and Navigation. If you want to know any or all of the hundreds of different articles imported last year or in any year since 1900 and the countries from which they came, you will find the information here; and if you want to know the various countries which each and every article exported was sent, you will also find that information. If you want to know what articles were exported from or imported through each of our customs districts, or the countries to which each customs district conducts its trade, you have the information here. If you want to know the amount of duty or rate of duty collected upon any article or class of articles imported into the United States last year, you have but to turn to the table in which all of this is shown in detail; while similar detailed information is shown with reference to the shipping of the country, the merchandise carried in American or foreign vessels, the commerce of the non-contiguous territory of the United tates and its commerce with the United States, as well as numerous subjects of this kind.

Turning to the six hundred page volume, the Statistical Abstract of the United States, you find in condensed form much of the information shown in detail in the larger volume, and in addition thereto many tables and statements showing the growth of our foreign trade and domestic industries for a long term of years. These statements include figures, showing the production of the numerous articles which enter into the daily life of the people, the growth of railroads, the growth of transportation on the Great Lakes, the development of the telegraph and telephone systems and increase in number of messages sent, the increase in number of pupils in public schools and of students in colleges and universities, the growth of wealth in the United States and the increase of wealth per capita, the reduction of the public debt and of interest thereon, the per capita public debt of the United States and interest thereon compared with those of other countries of the world, the increase in our currency, and the per capita currency of this country compared with that of other countries, the imports and exports of each of the principal countries of the world and their trade with the United States, the statistics of life insurance and industrial insurance for a long term of years, the deposits in savings banks and number of depositors and their growth year by year during the last half century, area, population, immigration, banks, bank clearings, failures, prices, merchant marine, postoffices, patents, pensions, strength of army and navy, and many other equally interesting subjects.

THE COUNTRY CORRESPONDENT.

Again, at night, when the work is done, you pick up the country weekly from the old home back east. You look over town news, scan the blazing half page ads and turn over to the country correspondence. Not that you were acquainted in every neighborhood from Pleasant Valley to Pumpkin Ridge, nor do you know the present generation spoken of in the news items. But here and there is an old family name that makes you think and takes you back to the good old days gone by. An item about the old church or the school, and as you sit there the recollection brings back memories all but forgotten. You wander out on the big road through the valley and woodland to the big farmhouse. Then a hundred faces of boyhood companions are all before you as you picture the revival at the crossroads church or the spelling bee at the old red schoolhouse, and you wonder what has become of all the boys and girls you left when you started west.

The old tourist printer has been relegated to the junk pile by the linotype, the city man takes his notes in shorthand, the editor dictates his matter to amanuenses and from the typewriter it goes down the tube—the revolution is complete, yet there is one good, old fashioned feature holding over—the weekly copy from the country correspondent. Nothing can take his place. May he be with us forever, because the paper needs him and the readers appreciate him and we want him, though he hasn't improved a lick in spelling and punctuation.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

Democrats of Oregon are of the opinion that George E. Chamberlain, recently re-elected governor of their state, would make a good running mate for William J. Bryan on the presidential ticket.

Representative South Trimble of Kentucky has announced himself as a candidate for the lieutenant governorship of his state. Mr. Trimble is now serving his third term as a member of the House.

Charles S. Weston, former state auditor of Nebraska, has formally announced his candidacy for the nomination for governor by the coming Republican state convention.

The Kentucky Democrat state executive committee has fixed upon Nov. 6 for a primary election for state officers. A Democrat nominee for the United States Senate to succeed Senator McCreary will also be voted at that time by the people.

Republicans of Maine meet in state convention at Portland on Wednesday of this week. There is no opposition to the renomination of Governor Cobb.

The date for the Republican state convention of Michigan has been changed from Aug. 8 to July 31. It will be held at Detroit.

Representative Littlefield, against whom President Campers of the American Federation of Labor, recently declared war, will be unanimously re-nominated by the Republicans of the Second Maine district at their convention to be held at Lewiston tomorrow.

A double-header state convention will be held at Burlington, Vt., on Thursday of this week. The Democrats will meet in state convention and there will also be an independent convention to nominate P. W. Clement for Governor. An effort will be made to have the two conventions fuse on the Clement ticket.

Political leaders in New York believe that unusually large sums of money will be expended for campaign purposes in the coming election. The regular machines believe that the business interests which the radicals are making the objects of their attack will be found ready contributors to the machine coffers and that they will have a large campaign fund at their disposal. With this prospect in view, they are confronted by the necessity of devising plans for meeting the laws passed by the last legislature, relating to campaign contributions, and expenditures.

PRESS COMMENT.

"Senator" Longworth, London Chicago Record-Herald: "Senator" Longworth, and probably has an idea that he represents the State of Cincinnati, the capital of which is Mill Creek.

Enjoying A Lonesome Time. Atchinson (Kan.) Globe: When a man sends his wife and children on a trip he sits on the porch alone in the evening and wonders where is the devilish good time men are supposed to have when their wives are out of town.

Killing Missionaries Too Expensive. Indianapolis News: China is in severe financial straits and economy is necessary. So serious is the situation that the killing of missionaries with the subsequent payment of indemnities may have to cease for a time.

Cans Must Be Dated. Exchange: The Senate is awake to the probability of deterioration from over-aging in the case of lined food products, and the outlook now favors an amendment providing that the date shall go on the cans.

No Discount on His Dream-Mill. Chicago News: Dr. Reich's theory that baldness is due to inactivity of the imagination cannot be true. Consider the vivid imagination of the man who combs one lone lock across the top of his head and supposes that no one will notice the deficiency of hair.

Don't Fancy Working For Women. Exchange: Somebody who has been making a study of the subject says the difficulty of securing domestic servants is due simply to the fact that women don't like to work for women. The solution ought now to be simple enough. Let every man hire a butler to run the house.

Fads Haven't Justified Means. Milwaukee News: When Senator La Follette returns to Wisconsin, he may be surprised to find that the people are beginning to doubt if "fighting the corporations" for the offices there are in it necessarily results in good government or decent administration.

Cashier in Her Notoriety. Chicago Chronicle: Mrs. Carrie Nation may have been a crank and a fanatic when she entered public life accompanied by a hatchet a few years ago, but she has contrived to turn her notoriety to profitable account. A woman who can command $50 per night as a platform attraction is doing considerably better than a good many safe and sane lecturers.

He Knows; He Knows. Green Bay Gazette: Poor Houser. They are already looking about for a candidate for secretary of state to take his place on the Jenroot slate. If reports are to be relied upon, it is asserted that Senator La Follette has looked into the matter and reached the decision that although Houser has been a good friend and loyal supporter of the junior senator, he won't do. Senator La Follette is politically wise and he knows a "dead one" when he runs across him.

Good Words For Merton. Jefferson County Democrat: The candidacy for governor on the Democratic ticket of Ernest Merton of Waukesha, is receiving the indorsement of a goodly number of prominent members of the party. Mr. Merton has made a good record for himself while in the state senate; his platform of principles shows him to be wide-awake and favoring needed improvements and changes in our laws including a revision of the present primary election and civil service laws.

Guards Against Kisses. Two soldiers have been detailed to watch Norway's new crown prince while he makes snow images or coasts, for otherwise this lad, three years old, might be kissed to death by the crowds in the parks where he takes his outings. As yet it is rather difficult for Prince Olaf to converse with his playmates with fluency, as he is less proficient in Norwegian than in English, but even at that he manages to get on fairly well with the children who come to entertain him.

Then an Auto. The first thing that a girl baby learns to ask for is candy and the second is money.—Chicago Daily News.

SCHALLER LEFT IN SEMI-FINALS

HEWITT OF OSHKOSH DEFEATS PETTIT OF KENOSHA.

MORSE IS IN CONSOLATION

Janesville Still Has an Opportunity of Landing One of the Two Cups.

3:45 p. m.—At the end of the first nine holes, in the semi-finals Schaller was 1 up over Vose and Hewitt 1 up over Hixon.

Rain is no barrier to golfers. Despite the threatening clouds, the drizzle and hard showers that set in this morning, the second day of the Wisconsin state tournament passed off according to program. The "dope" sheets that gave Pettit of Kenosha the state championship were upset by the defeat he met at the hands of Hewitt of Oshkosh. H. O. Fairchild of Green Bay, who was looked upon as a possibility in the consolation series, also lost to Morse of Janesville. Jacobs, another possible champion, met defeat at the hands of Hixon of Oshkosh and Vose of Milwaukee.

LEO BROWNELL DRIVING

waukee disposed of Burton of Fond du Lac.

The Second Round.

Hixon, La Crosse, beat Jacobs, Madison, 2 up.

HAM VOSE AND CADY.

Hewitt, Oshkosh, beat Pettit, Kenosha, 1 up in 19 holes.

Schaller, Janesville, beat Carter, Janesville, 2 up and 1 to play.

Vose, Milwaukee, defeated Burton, Fond du Lac, 5 up and 3 to play.

In the second round of the consolation series:

Cavanaugh, Kenosha, beat Koch, Milwaukee, 2 up and 1 to play.

Fowle, Milwaukee, beat Fraker, Oshkosh, 2 up and 2 to play.

Morse, Janesville, beat Fairchild, Green Bay, 6 up and 5 to play.

Pettit-Hewitt

The match between Pettit, Captain of the Chicago University golf team, and Hewitt, Captain of the Wisconsin University golf team resulted as follows: Hewitt won 1 up in 19 holes, and a large gallery followed the players around the entire course despite the drizzling rain. Pettit had been touted as coming state champion and both his and Jacobs' defeat by Hixon have made the doping exceedingly hard. This afternoon Hixon is playing Hewitt in the semi-finals, and Schaller is playing Vose. The winners of these matches play tomorrow for the championship. Morris is playing Cavanaugh and Fowle is playing Morse in the semi-finals for the consolation cup this afternoon. At nine this morning a 27-hole handicap medal play contest started with thirty players entered.

Tuesday's Play

In the first round of match play for the golf championship, which was started about half-past two o'clock at the Simmsville links yesterday afternoon and finished about six, F. W. Jacobs of Madison defeated Leo Brownell 2 up and 1 to play (meaning—for the benefit of readers who are not followers of the game—that Jacobs had won two more of the seventeen holes played than had his opponent and that it was useless to play the eighteenth and final hole because the outcome could not alter the final result). Brownell had had a lead of one over Jacobs in the first flight, but met with bad luck in directing some of his long drives in the second. J. M. Hixon of La Crosse defeated Orion Sutherland 2 up and 1 to play. B. M. Pettit of Kenosha, captain of the University of Chicago golf team, won from E. P. Hixon of La Crosse 3 up and 2 to play. G. W. Hewitt of Oshkosh, captain of the University of Wisconsin golf team, defeated Dr. A. G. White of Milwaukee 4 up and 2 to play. H. G. Carter defeated F. E. Effield up in twenty holes. G. W. Burton of La Crosse won from E. J. Duchan of Racine, former state champion, 2 up. Hamilton Vose of Milwaukee won from R. O. Gordon of La Crosse 5 up and 4 to play. In the second round today the players were paired as follows:

Jacobs and Hixon.
Pettit and Hewitt.
Schaller and Carter.
Burton and Vose.

Consolation Cup Contest

In the consolation cup round A. B. Morris of Madison won from W. J. Miller of Milwaukee 6 up and 5 to play. T. J. Carroll of Milwaukee from H. S. McMillin 2 up; O. G. Koch of Milwaukee from N. Tourtellotte of La Crosse 7 up and 5 to play; R. P. Cavanaugh of Kenosha, former state champion, from E. H. Sanborn of Madison 6 up and 4 to play; D. G. Fraker of Oshkosh from A. Greenwald of Oshkosh 7 up and 5 to play; Dr. L. H. Fowle of Milwaukee from J. L. Wilcox 3 up and 2 to play; Chester Morse from S. D. Wyatt of Fond du Lac 2 up and 1 to play; H. G. Fairchild of Milwaukee for forfeit, the latter being called home by telegram at the end of the first flight. The players were paired today in the second round as follows:

Morris and Carroll.
Koch and Cavanaugh.
Fraker and Fowle.
Morse and Fairchild.

SECURES A DIVORCE FROM HARRY E. MOTT

Mrs. Florence E. Mott Granted Separation on Charge of Conviction—Two Children at Sparta.

In circuit court today Mrs. Florence Mott of Beloit was granted a divorce from Harry E. Mott, now confined at the Sparta penitentiary in Waupun, on the charge of larceny of two hundred dollars from a drunk.

The grounds in the case were conviction. Mott's two-and-a-half-year sentence will be complete July 3, this year. Two small children of the interested parties are now at the state home at Sparta. It will be remembered that this was Mott's second criminal offense, having served a term at Stillwater for embezzling a thousand dollars from the United States postoffice department by borrowing stamps from Belvidere and Janesville offices. Mott formerly was employed in the Beloit office.

DEFENDANTS WIN IN A NOTED SUIT

BOSTWICK, PALMER, LEWIS AND PARKER ARE CLEARED.

DECISION BY CLEMENTSON

End of Noted Suit Which Held Famous Baxter Mining Property in Court.

This afternoon, Judge Clementson of Lafayette county, at Darlington, made a decision in the famous Baxter Mining suit in favor of the defendants, Messrs. J. M. Bostwick, W. F. Palmer, S. B. Lewis and George S. Parker of this city, and against the plaintiffs, Samuel Stein and J. G. James of Lafayette county. The suit was brought by the plaintiffs to reform a written mining lease and for an accounting of the property of the Baxter Mining company, of which they claimed a third interest—represented in their complaint as worth $33,000.

M. G. Jeffris and William H. Dougherty of Janesville represented the defendants in the action and Pierce & Fisher of Janesville, R. M. Bashford of Madison and Colver, Spaulding of Mineral Point, represented the plaintiffs. The suit was started last February by Klein and James, who claimed that they had obtained a verbal option for lease of the property where the Baxter mine is located, previous to Mr. Palmer's securing a written lease in October, 1904, and that in taking the verbal option for the lease they had acted for Messrs. Bostwick, Palmer, Lewis and Parker and under an agreement were to receive one-third interest in the mine. Judge Clementson in finding for the defendants said that not enough evidence has been produced to substantiate the claims made in the complaint. The case has been on trial for three days at Darlington.

GEORGE SYKES HAS ODD POTATO FREAK

Three Small Tubers Instead of "Sprouts," Developed From Eyes of a 1905 "Murphy."

George Sykes, who resides on Prospect avenue, has a freak of nature, the like of which has never been heard of. It is a potato of last year's crop in which three smaller tubers have developed. Three "eyes" instead of sprouting as under ordinary circumstances have grown into "murphys" a half or three-quarters of an inch in diameter. In enlarging they have split the mother root open on one side.

PRESS COMMENT.

Not This Time—But Next!

Evening Wisconsin. Neither of the Wisconsin crews won at Poughkeepsie on Saturday afternoon. The "varsity" race for eight oars was won by Cornell, with Pennsylvania, Syracuse, Wisconsin, Columbia, and Pennsylvania in the order named, and Syracuse won the Freshman race for eight oars, with Cornell, Wisconsin, Columbia, and Pennsylvania, forming the procession. It will be noted that the Wisconsin boys were fourth and third in these respective races, not last; and it is also worthy of remark that they kept the boating sharpshooters guessing as to the probable outcome of the race, notwithstanding the fact that Cornell was generally picked as the winner. This is worth all the trouble and expense incident to the repeated eastward trips of the Wisconsin crews.

The West is not a factor in national rowing, as yet, but Wisconsin's persistency is compelling recognition, and when in the course of time the cardinal is carried to the front there will be hats off to the courageous oarsmen who "kept a-coming" until their turn at victory arrived. Then there will be a boom in collegiate boating throughout the West that will result in annual regattas on Western waters with exchange exhibitions in similar events between the East and the West. For this reason, many boating enthusiasts are hoping for the early arrival of Wisconsin's day of victory at Poughkeepsie.

Happy Hunting Ground, Indeed.

Exchange. If wisdom governs the selection of the 20,000 acres of land which Congress has voted to Wisconsin as a forest reserve, the state will have a beautiful area of woodland to which hunters and fishermen can go during the season for outdoor sports. The timber has been falling before the woodman's axe so rapidly that lovers of nature have feared that eventually there would be no thickly wooded areas within the limits of the state.

Scarcity of Hickory Wood

Baltimore Herald. Hickory, one of, if not the most, valuable of our native woods, has become so scarce that many substitutes have of necessity been found for it. The wonderful increase in the demand for buggies and carriages of the finer class had much to do with the virtual extinction of the great American hickory forests. England, Germany, China, Australia, South Africa and the South American countries made strong requisitions on the American supply. Years ago the supply of this fine wood north of the Ohio river had been exhausted. Despite substitutes and changed conditions, hickory remains one of the most valuable of American woods.

BOY SHOT IN LEG BY STATE POLICE

CONSTABLES, HARD PRESSED BY CROWD, USE GUNS.

SEEK TO RESCUE PRISONER

Mob Endeavors to Free Captive by Throwing Stones and Bricks at the Officials, Who Respond with Bullets.

Allentown, Pa., June 27.—A platoon of the state constabulary which is on duty in this city in connection with the street car strike fired into a crowd Tuesday night and injured a boy.

The police were riding past Fourth and Hamilton streets when they were greeted with yells by a large crowd congregated at that point. Two of the state policemen arrested two men and started with them for the jail, a half block away.

Stone State Constables.
A crowd of 2,000 persons, attracted by the shooting, quickly gathered and stones were thrown at the state police. The helmet of F. Markrantz, a state policeman, was smashed with a brick. In the melee that followed one of the arrested men escaped.

The police being hard pressed by the crowd that was following them, turned and fired a shot into the air, and then shot down. A bullet struck Harry R. Winkle, a 13-year-old boy, in the leg and he was taken to a hospital.

Police Arrest Troopers.
Chief of Police Bower and several city policemen arrived at the jail as the state police brought in their remaining prisoner, and two troopers who were accused of doing the shooting were locked up. Charges will be preferred against them for shooting. The crowd was highly incensed at the action of the state police. There is a deep prejudice against the presence here of the state constabulary.

Mayor as Peace Agent.
A significant feature of the trolley strike situation is that Mayor Schaefer has requested Col. Harry C. Trexler, president of the Lehigh Valley Transit company, and Orlando C. Miller, secretary of the local union of the street car employees, and a discharged motorman, to meet him in conference at his office. The strikers look to this as the entering wedge to an adjustment of the difficulties, as the company officials had hitherto refused to treat with the men except individually.

Very few cars are running, the company not having enough men to keep up their usual service. Guards of state constabulary are on each car and others are on horseback patrolling points where danger is anticipated.

TRUST IN STATE PRINTING

Union Men Secure Indictments at St. Paul for Alleged Violation of Law by Employers.

St. Paul, Minn., June 27.—Six secret indictments have been returned against firms and members of firms of local printing establishments for an alleged violation of the state anti-trust and combination statute. It has been alleged and formal complaint filed with the county attorney by the legal representatives of the typographical union that a combination exists among the local printing establishments in the matter of presenting bids on state printing which is in effect a violation of this act.

British Civic Pride.
London, June 27.—M. E. Ingalls, chairman of the municipal ownership commission of the National Civic Federation of the United States, in the course of an interview, said he noted as the most striking feature of British municipal government the number of men of first-rate capacity and integrity who were willing to devote their time to civic affairs.
